Nonoka Aoki

Day 4

This morning, I made pancakes for breakfast with my host sister. They were so yummy. Then, we went to a local game center and played the game called "laser tag." It was just like a shooting game.

I played it with other Junten students and their host sisters. After that, we went for shopping. I bought some souvenirs for my family and friends.

As for dinner, we had a dinner party at another host family's home.

Today, I talked with many American people. I think it was really a good opportunity to become a better English speaker. I had a very very good day.
