

Homestay Report 6.

Hiroto Kobayashi

Today, our host family brought us to The Metropolitan Museum of Art (MET). It was so big that we couldn't see all of the artwork. But it was great. On the first floor, I saw the real Pollock's art. I was really impressed by that. On the second floor, we saw Katsushika Hokusai studio's art. Luckily, Japanese booth opened 2 days ago and we saw the new one. On the other booth, we saw The Pharaoh that came from Egypt.

After visiting MET, we went to the most delicious NY pizza place and I ate 2 pieces of pizza. I liked them!! Then, we went back home to go shopping. In the local shopping mall, I met the other hosts and Junten students. There, I bought メッツアルーナ (I don't know how to spell it), chocolates, etc.

After that, we had a dinner party with the other host-families. The food was delicious and we talked a lot and laughed a lot.
